DOUBLE TALK

There are persons who have a gift for what may be called the wolf sentence in sheep's clothing. It is not double talk, exactly. It sounds innocent enough until you begin to think it over and find out what it means. Then it is apt to drive you loony, if you haven't enough strength of character to banish it from your mind.

The classic example is attributed to Mr. Dave Clark of Broadway who once, during an argument, is reported to have exclaimed, "Well, I may be wrong but I'm not far from it."

It was Mr. Clark who almost unsettled the reason of the late Addison Mizner years ago. Mizner met Dave on Broadway and asked him about the merits of a new play that had just opened, and was it worth seeing.

"Oh, don't miss it if you can," urged Mr. Clark. Mr. Mizner thought that over for a few minutes and then ran screaming up Broadway.

A cherished friend of ours once glimpsed a lovely little mountain lake with evergreens growing down to its very water line.

"Look!" she exclaimed. "The lake comes right up to the shore!"

Another cherished friend recently said to us, "You know, I'm a split personality, all in one."—New York PM.

OR TAKE A PILLOW

The editor of the Florida Newspaper News, John Lochner, recently went on a trip out of Florida and into the Middle West. Travel conditions, he reports, are such that the wise citizen will heed the government's request to do no unnecessary traveling.

As a result of the Lochners' experiences, the following advice is offered by the veteran editor to those who are thinking of taking a train trip:

"Travel only when necessary. Carry your own pillow and your own lunch, and preferably an airplane suitcase, to make sure you'll have something to sit on."

Not all travelers tell the same story. Some, evidently, have had more luck than others. But it is clear that traveling, as a general rule, is a grim business these days.—St. Petersburg Independent.

SHE LEARNED

Hotel Manager: Did you give that soldier a call at seven?

Maid: Yes, sir, but he didn't wake up. I had to go in and shake him.

Hotel Manager: Don't you know better than to go into a soldier's room like that?

Maid: Yes, sir, I do now.—Winter Haven Herald.

FARMERS' PROFITS

Reports of our farmers must be taken with a grain of salt. The highest celery prices in years have had their beneficial effect but the highest labor as well as other costs have absorbed a good deal of the profits.

One farmer who was reported to have made $50,000 will have to contribute $33,000 of that to the government in the form of incomes taxes. He owed $15,000, accumulated through previous years, so by the time he has his bills paid he will have about $2,000 left to himself. While that isn't hay, it's a far cry from $50,000.—Sanford Herald.

GAS BUT NO CARS

Super auto fuel will be ready the day war ends. But the public will have to wait for the super-automobile to use it.

Wartime aircraft needs have given a tremendous impetus to oil chemistry, built-up a huge capacity to produce high octane gasoline. But the auto industry's concentration on arms production has left to the future the complex engineering problems involved in building power plants to use these chemical fuels.

Another complication: The millions of prewar cars on the road whose engines couldn't use the better fuels.—Wall Street Journal.

REFUGEE

One evening, during the last days of "Teddy" Roosevelt's administration, a man, shivering and ragged, knocked at the door of a certain house of K-street in Washington.

"Please madam, give me something to eat," he pleaded, when the lady of the house answered the door. "I am suffering severely from exposure."

"You must be more specific," demanded the lady. "Are you a member of the senate or the house?"—Collier County News.

FLORIDA PREPARES FOR PEACE

Almost every city in Florida, reports the research committee of the state chamber of commerce, has an active chamber of commerce committee at work on post-war problems, laying plans for reconstruction and economic stability in the critical 10 years following this war.

The state is also active in post-war planning. The state road department, for instance, is preparing a huge public works program of highways, bridges, sea walls, etc., to take up the slack in employment during the period when the nation is retooling for normal peacetime production.

Fewer Florida counties have gone so far with post-war planning, according to the state chamber, though some are beginning to. In fact, Pinellas is the only example mentioned of a county that has already set up a formal county-wide planning group and advanced legislation to give it legal status and provide a reservoir of funds for post-war projects. Other counties, the chamber is pleased to note, have begun to study the problem and are seriously considering the formation of separate organizations like the one in Pinellas county.

Pinellas county, because of its long dependence on tourists as a leading source of revenue, has been harder hit by the war than many other Florida counties. One reason that has happened is that too few persons here were quick enough to see what was coming and prepare for it. But the peace, evidently, is not going to catch us unprepared.—St. Petersburg Independent.

CINEMATIC CHATTER.....

—By MALCOLM MILLER—

What The Movies Have To Offer During The Coming Week

I am hoping, as I sit down to write this column, that everyone of my readers are satisfied with the new change in the program setup and the running time during the week. As I pointed out last week, I believe you are going to like the change very much, because it will mean that we will be a great deal more choosy in selecting pictures from now on, and for that reason you are bound to get the best that comes out of Hollywood.

You've got a dandy Owl show to be screened at the Prince this Saturday. This one brings Alan Ladd with a new leading lady.

Places, like people, linger in my mind as the air conditioned, free shop at the Cherokee, the spacious porch of the Floridian, those delighted home cooked meals at the Dutch Kitchen, nourishment de luxe at Spaghetti Joe's, night life at Forest Inn and the Silver Slipper, a quick cup of coffee at the Black cat, the campus at Florida State College for Women, the line a block long in front of the Florida Theatre.

Sounds that persist in my memory are the banging of gavel, the clanging of the House warning gong, the tinkle of ice in thin glasses, the blares of colorful juke organs, the drone of the reading clerk's omnibus as the chant of the tobacco auctioneer, the ceaseless slam of elevator doors, the bang of voices in the capitol lobby, the never-ending roar of airplanes, the shuffle of dancing feet and the rustle of silken gowns, the clatter of dishes, the huff and puff of trains and a telephone bell that persisted on ringing at all hours of the day and night.

But the thing that really gets a guy, when he returns home after spending 60 days writing a running account of the Legislative session which has been published in papers from Key West to Pensacola, is to meet some friend on the street who remarks "Where have you been, Russ?" "I haven't seen your around lately," and when you say "Tallahassee," have the dumb clerk-give you a blank look and say "Whatta ya been doin' up there?" That's when you feel that there ought to be just ONE more "Law entitled an Act".

left a bit of themselves that will linger long in the memory of those who "eat in" during the session. They are all regular folks when you get to know them and I shall long cherish the friendships and acquaintances it was my privilege to make, not only among the legislators, themselves, but also among the press gang, the lobby group and about the town.

Charming and gracious was "The Lady from Pinellas" who proved herself to be a good sport as well as a good legislator. In a class by himself was Representative Buck Hancock of Volusia. There is only one Bick, and when it comes to resolution and memoranda he can hold his own with the best of them.

Then I got a new thrill each time I saw Speaker Dick Simpson preside over his big sessions. An excellent Speaker, he held the respect and affection of everyone from start to finish, while in the Senate, President Ball, banging a wicked gavel, moved things along so fast that half the time even the press gang was behind the parade and would have to ask what the score was.

And speaking of the press gang—there never was a better bunch, with Wrenn, Johnson, Collier and Oliver of the AP staff, Brynne and Patterson of the UP, Allen Morris of the Miami Herald, Jimmie Ethridge of the Tampa Times, Paul Davis of the St. Petersburg Independent, Cecil Warren of the Miami News, Sonny Jones of the Tallahassee Democrat, Al Baker of the St. Petersburg Times, Wil-

Helen Walker, who, by the way, is new to pictures, but it is predicted that she is already on the fast rung at the top of the ladder that leads to stardom. "Like Jordan" is the film.

For your Sunday-Monday offering Brian Donlevy, Walter Brennan and Anna Lee, assisted by Gene Lockhart, Dennis O'Keefe, Alexander Granach, Margaret Wycherly, and Tonia Selwart present "Hangmen Also Die," which is a secret script from a secret source, smuggled out of Europe at the risk of death. It is the whipsaw story of Heydrich, Hitler's Hated Hangman, and how free men fight to remain free.

The Tuesday-Wednesday selection is "It Comes Up Love." This one brings those lovable kids Gloria Jean and Donald O'Connor to the screen, ably assisted by Ben Hunter, Louise Lascort and Charles Coleman and the story they relate is much better than "Get Hep To Love" which we all so joyfully enjoyed not so long back.

Gloria and Donald romp through one of the sweetest and most natural romances ever written into a script. The dialogue is as bright as a new coat of paint and the comedy situations are strong enough to bring forth gales of laughter, with loads of delicious song numbers to round off a real evening entertainment.

There is a specially selected program of short subjects, with the current news reel to add interest.

After two months in Tallahassee it's mighty good to get back to the United States and get settled down to a more or less normal life. A fellow is truly in another world when he sits in on a legislative session day in and day out for 60 long days and 60 equally long nights.

Lawnmowing bodies are made up of personalities of many individuals . . . all blended to create the monster personality we term our "Legislature".

In the House, such dominant characters as E. Clay Lewis of Gulf, Joe Jenkins of Alachua, L. C. Croft of Brevard, Bud Dwyer of Putnam, Leo Wotzky, Newman Brackin of Okaloosa, Jeff Collins of Sarasota, and a host of others, stand out. While the Senate is constituted such men as Shands of Gainesville, Sheldon of Tampa, Rose of Orlando, Beacham of West Palm Beach, Lewis of Marianna, Graham of Miami, and others who all gent and worthwhile labor regulatory laws.

Mindful of the fact that the "old folks" will in all probability dominate coming elections, with the youth of the nation away at the front, lawmakers, thinking of re-election, lost no opportunity to give voice to their desire to do something for those in the "sunset or life".

It is doubtful if any legislature had more to say about the oldsters and at the same time did less. While old age pensions may be slightly increased from cigarette tax money, there is a question whether or not returns will be as large as anticipated.

School teachers fared no better and while several efforts were made to provide more money for them, indications are they, too, will have to remain content with laudatory expressions rather than increased paychecks.

While not one woman in a thousand evidenced any concern one way or another regarding the effort of Representative Mary Lou Baker to enact a bill giving married women equal rights with men in handling property and making contracts, the "Lady from Pinellas" finally, was victorious after a long drawn out struggle.

There is a strong division of opinion over the merits of the bill which permits women to sue and be sued and makes them free dealers. "About all it does," stated one lawmaker, "is put her at the mercy of the Fuller Brush man." On the other hand, Mary Lou terms it "the most constructive legislation in a decade"—so shall wait and see.

Another worthwhile piece of legislation, the establishment of a Professional District in Pinellas, at a time it appeared that the day and difficult task would not be accomplished at this session, for, as might be expected, it was a highly controversial issue. However, House and Senate finally concurred and a new Sixth District was carved out, composed of the following counties: De Soto, Charlotte, Lee, Glades, Hendry, Okaloosa, Indian River, St. Lucie, Martin, Palm Beach and Broward, substantially reducing the districts formerly served by J. Hardin Peterson and Pat Cannon.

"A congressman elected from the new Sixth District will replace Lex Green, now serving as Congressman-at-large. Ambitious to fill the post is Senator J. A. Franklin of Fort Myers, who in all probability will be a candidate at the next general election along with a number of other aspirants.

In 1941, according to statistics there were nearly 10,000,000 tire blowouts and more than 1,000,000 motorists found themselves stranded with empty gas tanks in the United States.

ROYAL SERVICE PROGRAM

A Royal Service program was provided by members of the First Baptist Women's Missionary Union under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Caraway's group at a meeting in the church Monday afternoon. Talks on "Building Faith Among Our Service Men" were given by Mrs. G. C. Connel and Mrs. R. F. Hurt. Miss Caraway invited the WMU to meet at her home on June 21.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Your tires are in good shape, Judge...ought to last you at least another 5,000 miles." "I've been very careful of them, Jim, since I learned how much the government needs rubber. Only drive when I have to, keep her under 35 an hour and have the tires switched around every 1,000 miles." "Me, too, Judge. Pretty tough spot we were put in getting our supply of rubber cut off just when we needed it most. But, we'll be getting plenty of synthetic rubber real soon. Say, is it true, Judge, that the beverage distilling industry has a part in producing it?" "Yes, a very important part, Jim. That industry's facilities for producing grain alcohol make it possible to include 200,000 tons of rubber from grain in the government's 870,000-ton synthetic rubber program. Pretty important contribution to our war effort, isn't it Jim?" "It certainly is, Judge. Wonder how many people really realize it?"

Confidence of Alcoholic Beverage Industries, I. L.

She's 5 feet 1 from her 4A slippers to her spun-gold hair. She loves flower-hats, veils, smooth orchestras—and being kissed by a boy who's now in North Africa.

But, man, oh man, how she can handle her huge and heavy press!

Wait a minute... How can 110 pounds of beauty boss 147,000 pounds of steel? Is this magic?

Yes, in a way. The modern magic of electric power. The magic that makes it possible for a girl's slim fingers to lift mountains of metal, or set great wheels in motion—just by pressing a button or pulling a lever.

Women are able to work beside men on America's roaring production lines because electricity does the heavy labor. America's war production is the greatest in the world largely because America has the world's greatest supply of electric power. And America's electric power under business management provides over 80 per cent of all that power at low pre-war prices!

Call that magic, too! But the experienced men and women of the electric companies take it in stride. All in the day's work! All part of knowing the job. Their proved skills were ready when the war came, so that now we Americans are producing far more power than all the Axis countries combined! Politically envious, the despairing workers of Germany, Italy and Japan can't begin to compete with free people.

But electricity has helped inventive, independent Americans to step up the nation's manpower—and woman-power—tremendously.
